

Alu-Flex wall & chimney connection tape

SAREI Alu-Flex is a self-adhesive wall and chimney connection. The extremely malleable material is particularly suitable for tight connections to walls, chimneys and penetrations of all kinds. The butyl adhesive with silicone cover film ensures easy and time-saving processing. The adhesive system is only activated after the cover film has been removed.

Copper structure ridge band

Moss growth on roof tiles can be restricted with the structured copper tape from SAREI. The copper ions are flushed out with the rainwater and distributed over the roof surface, creating a cleaning effect. The effect depends on the duration of the sprinkling and the degree of vegetation before assembly.
